

CMSA SUNDOWNER 2009 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP - AMARILLO MAKES HISTORY!

Kenda Lenseigne – the first woman in CMSA history to take Overall World Champion Title!

By Phil Spangenberg

The West Texas town of Amarillo was alive with enthusiasm, as for the very first time in CMSA's history, the Overall World Championship title was won by a woman. Hard riding, straight shooting Kenda Lenseigne, of Ellensburg, WA took the Overall position amidst the cheers and applause of fellow competitors and spectators! A fierce competitor for many years, the Overall championship has eluded Kenda, as it has with every other female in our sport, but 2009 has become the Year of the Cowgirl. Kenda and her handsome AQHA quarter horse, Lieutenant Justin, put it together in Amarillo and blazed their way to total victory! Congratulations Kenda Lenseigne and Lieutenant Justin!
